Official Rules and Scoring Details

Code of Conduct

- All competitors must sign a climbing wall waiver this academic year.
- Any behavior that is disruptive, endangering to others, distracting to other climbers, disrespectful, or that is in violation of the climbing wall policies will result in climber disqualification.

Competition Rules

Climbing

- Climbers may attempt as many problems as they wish within the designated time.
- Each climber will be given a score sheet at the beginning of the competition. Do not lose this score sheet; this is how your scores will be calculated.
- Record each attempt on your score card, ensure that you have at least 2 people watching you or one of our staff to sign off as proof of your climb.
- Only the designated holds and features may be used on each problem.
- A climber's attempt begins when both of their feet leave the ground.
- A 30 minute, 15 minute, and 5 minute announcement will be made before competition climbing ends.
- If a problem will intercede with another problem that someone is already on, do not begin the problem.
- Any climbers who already started an attempt when competition climbing ends will be allowed to finish that attempt. At the discretion of the climbing competition coordinator, climbers in line at the end of competition climbing may be given a last attempt.
- Beta or providing information that assists in completing a problem may be given only after a first attempt on the problem and while off of the problem.

Scoring Details

- If a technical incident occurs, it must be reported to a floor judge at the time of the incident. A technical incident is anything that creates an unfair disadvantage that is not the fault of the climber, such as a hold spinning, tape missing from a problem or an injury requiring first aid. If a judge decides that a technical incident did occur the climber can attempt the problem
 - again and not count the previous attempt.
- In the case of a tie, the tie breaker will be a climb off.
- Once score cards are turned in and competition climbing is over, the scoring team will look at the 5 highest scored climbs and this will determine the division in which you are placed for scoring.
- Climbers will receive points for the problem if they complete the whole problem. Climbers must have both hands in control of the finishing hold or taped off finish box for the climb to count.
- Male and female climbers will be placed in separate divisions.
- If a climber does not agree with their score or grounds for disqualification they may discuss it with the climbing competition coordinator.
